

Course Descriptions

Economics

ECON 2113 Macroeconomic Principles

This course introduces the functioning of the aggregate economy. Topics include national income, employment, inflation and the price stabilization, fiscal policy, monetary policy and aspects of the international interdependence. Prerequisite: MATH 1483 Math Functions or MATH 1513 College Algebra.

ECON 2123 Microeconomic Principles

This course addresses specific components of an economic system with emphasis given to the theory of the firm, cost of production, factor prices, income distribution and international trade and finance. Prerequisite: MATH 1483 Math Functions or MATH 1513 College Algebra.